SigEp Participates in Delta Idol Philanthropy

By: Steven Chik

At Delta Idol, lead vocalist Sherard Cheung sang with fellow brothers Jeremy Aquino on backing vocals, Justin Austria on guitar, Christian Huerta on guitar, Keegan Cervantes on guitar, and Chris Kompella beat boxing. In this philanthropy structured like American Idol, the Sigma Phi Epsilon group of musicians stunned the crowd with their performance after hours of practice.

For Sherard, Delta Idol

was such a great experience in that he rarely gets a chance to perform and showcase his singing talent. For the first round, the group sang an acoustic version of Sunday Morning by Maroon 5. However, due to the limited capacity of the auditorium, the rest of the chapter was unable to enter, which was detrimental to their votes towards further advancing to the next rounds. Regardless of this technicality, the group sang My Love by Justin Timberlake in the second round. due to overwhelming crowd demand.

Singing over the screams and cheers, it is no wonder that Sherard considers Delta Idol the highlight of his year. Although they did not win the competition, Sherard says, “Even though we didn’t win, the fact that I was up there with all my brothers and closest friends made the experience even richer. “However, Sherard is still hungry for that “rockstar” feeling which drives him to practice harder for the upcoming Lyrefest. He claims that this performance is expected to top Delta Idol.

Sigma Kappa’s Best Dance Crew

By Michael Phan

Always room to express your feelings on the dance floor, the Sigma Kappa sorority hosted a philanthropic event known as the ‘Sigma Kappa Best Dance Crew’. SKBDC was a dance competition that both IFC fraternities and Panhellenic sororities participated in to compete for first place. As brothers of SigEp voluntarily participated in this event, many came out to support. Through many late night rough practices, it has brought the dancers closer to each other; especially since most of the dancers participating in SKBDC participated in serenades as well. Being able to dance in front of hundreds of people and not messing up was one of the many issues that guys often feared, but after serenades, it has only helped them develop a sense of self determination, confidence, and discipline. Although SigEp did not take home the trophy, at the end of the day, they walked away with the most valuable principle in a fraternity, a stronger brotherhood.

Brother Christian Huerta Elected as Campus Wide Senator

By: Christian Huerta

It is a great honor to have won the 2013 AS election for All Campus senator position. As an all campus senator I face the challenge of building a campus that supports the growth of student minds and creativity. There are several issues facing our campus at the moment such as transportation being cut for students living off campus and the topic of divestment directly affecting the Israeli and Palestinian community here, but the most pressing issue I see at UCSD is a divided campus and I aim to unite the student body. Being part of such a diverse brotherhood, Sigma Phi Epsilon I feel has provided me with all the tools necessary to really impact this campus in a positive way and connect the students of all diversities and backgrounds. I look forward to the new school year and hope to make my chapter proud and show everyone what It means to be a SigEp here at UCSD.

Thank you for those who came out to this year's Alumni Bowl Game! This year, our Alumni took the win.

Dear Brothers,

As we come over more than halfway of our journey being a new and revamped program, I ask you all to take the time and reflect what the letters of Sigma, Phi, and Epsilon mean to you, especially during your time here at UCSD. Whether graduated or still an active- I ask you all to invest (if you haven't already) your efforts into the rebuilding of the chapter. It is our responsibility that we serve each other with the love and support that the closest of siblings may have. This time is critical, more critical than ever for the chapter to burst in growth and leadership with this current and next year. We aspire to have 50 men in our chapter by the beginning of the school year. We aspire to maintain and strengthen our relations with the alumni system. We have done all of this so far. Let's continue to pour our efforts into this common goal that we have, a day at a time.
